Dear Mr. Gennaro d'Andria,

The Enabling the Business of Agriculture team would like to thank you for your invaluable contribution to the Enabling the Business of Agriculture 2017 project. In recognition of your instrumental contribution we are pleased to send you a certificate of appreciation. We will also share an electronic copy of the forthcoming report with you once it is published in early 2017.

Enabling the Business of Agriculture 2017 will be the third in an annual series of reports providing objective measures of regulatory good practices and their enforcement in 62 countries studied.

Please visit our website at <http://eba.worldbank.org/> to download a copy of last year's report, access country specific indicator data, information on the methodology used and general background on our project. You will also find a "Local experts" section (<http://eba.worldbank.org/local-experts>) that acknowledges the indispensable support we have been fortunate to receive from contributors like you in previous years – your name and name of your organization may be added upon publication of the Enabling the Business of Agriculture 2017 report, depending upon your earlier preferences that you have expressed to us.

Your contribution has been essential in ensuring the quality of the data in the Enabling the Business of Agriculture report, and we would appreciate it if we can rely on your continued cooperation with the project in the future.

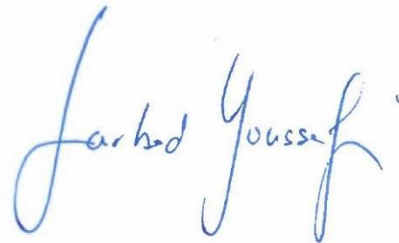

With best regards,

Federica Saliola
